

---

Subject: Saving Credits! and destroying a Medium Tank

Posted by Deathgod on Fri, 14 May 2004 06:18:31 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

setstyleKIRBY098A man and a woman were designed to complement each other.

Phoenix - AeonMen and women were designed for nothing, it is pure chanced that has shaped us into what we are.

Well, it then comes down to a religious opinion. It's not the "parts" that control our actions as much as our brains. A chemical chance that a man may enjoy oranges over grapes instead of grapes over oranges is not so different from a chemical chance that a man may enjoy the company of women over men instead of men over women.

That's a bad example. A man who doesn't like grapes can change his mind after eating them over time to like grapes. I don't think I could look around at guys enough to make me go hump one.

---