The video of one oil fire is getting a lot of play on all the mainstream media. I thought this war wasn't supposed to be about the oil, yet the media are treating this one video of an oil fire as a major development.

A development that seems to get far less attention is that even as Iraqi forces surrender at Umm Qasr, there is as yet not a single use of the dreaded Iraqi nukes, Iraqi chemical weapons, and Iraqi germs that we were told WERE the reason for this war and that the US knew Iraq had even though the UN inspectors could not find any.

And, I might add, so far there is no sign of the equally well-promoted legions of Iraqi terrorists that were supposed to be here in the US armed with the aforesaid dreaded Iraqi nukes, Iraqi chemical weapons, and Iraqi germs that we were told WERE the reason for this war and that the US knew Iraq had even though the UN inspectors could not find any.
