

---

Subject: The protests.

Posted by Crimson on Sat, 22 Mar 2003 19:37:20 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I completely agree with that. Have you also noticed all the celebrities speaking out against the war... and since the celebrities are "our heroes" (referring only to the trend for most people to look up to them as heroes even though just because someone can act, doesn't mean they are intelligent in World affairs) they are able to influence their fans to think the way they do without even using their own brains to pick a side?

"Britney Spears is against the war, therefore, so am I."

Someone mentioned earlier that an interview was conducted on members of a group of protesters and some of them thought Osama Bin Laden was the leader of Iraq. :rolleyes:

---