I think it was directed at those who are dragging this out warranto.

Otherwise wouldnt he have said YOU are etc etc.....

Besides I got the gist of what you were saying.....But truthfully, the one and only thing that would make Renegade better is a reduction in bickering between networks and individuals.....Those who are new to everything either dont come back for the constant barrage of N00b...wtf? newbie (i've seen it happen) or the politics that they later discover / get dragged into / wish they hadnt asked. -the latter part being what happened with me....you dont get crap to this extent on the Euro server

To be quite frankful, the only place i saw it happen alot less was in Black-cell....So they dont open public relations and keep to themselves and now you all know why, but whenever i was either in their servers or irc they never chastised someone for being new and never felt it neccesary to drag people into politics of why they hate this person, that server and that entire network.

I think if we cant do or say anything nice, we should just act ignorant of each other, (yeah i sound like my parents "if you cant say anything nice, dont say anything at all"...so shoot me.)
