Mine started overheating almost right after I bougt mine too, but it's been overheating and restarting itself randomly for almost 3 years now. Still runnin good. It's fast right til the restart. I've tried remedeying it, I even installed a fan but when it's hot out it still overheats even with the added fan. It's a midtower case so I think part of the problem is the powerful components so close together. Maybe a little more info on the computer? The size case and fan placement maybe?