

---

Subject: For the attention of Clan FUD

Posted by Deathgod on Sat, 29 May 2004 17:36:52 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Usage of a vehicle is opinion and as such is unlikely to be highly inaccurate as it will differ from person to person. Damage info is factual because it can be tested and verified and will be the same in every single situation.

Irony implies that I am passing off more misinformation, which I am not. All actual errors which have been reported to me have been corrected, and as far as I can tell now the data itself is good to go. The rest is an opinion. I find artilleries to be of little use in tank-to-tank combat without a lot of support because they're fragile. Granted, I could own anyone using an arty if I so chose, but I would prefer to be on foot or in a med/ST/LT.

You have implied that you think you're pretty hot shit from your posts and your sig. I don't think I need any more than that to come to the conclusion that you think you are so. Whether you may or may not be is not my problem, but if you want to go write some strats for I33t people feel free.

---