almor999If you have a router chances are it has a firewall, you can access these settings by typing its IP address into IE(usually 192.168.2.1).

You said you have Norton AntiVirus, is this just AntiVirus or is it Norton Internet Security?

It's just NORTON ANTI VIRUS 2004, not the Internet Security.

EDIT: I also do not have a router, just a DSL modem.
