people always ask were to install maps, so if this auto instals them for them, it will be eaiser than having to tell them how to install them when they want in a server running them , and it will allow servers running renguard to run those maps with out worrying if people will have them or not and there server will be empty becuase everyone playing there say on complex has renguard, so if they have renguar when the map switchs they will have those maps as well
