spoonyratIf you STILL don't believe the N00b1us game was on your server, why don't you ask each person you've given RenRem access to? Since one of them banned me with the amsg "CEspoony is thexorb and xxd0mexx and is now banned forever!" (Or similar words to that effect)

I'm sure if you spoke to all your admins, one of them will enlighten you.

Hey, if you say it was on my server, then fine, maybe it was. What I don't believe is that it was AFTER I banned you. Because back when you originally mentioned this nonsense I checked the logs from after I banned you and I found no mention of CEspoony.

This is really just a moot point anyway though. You were banned, so *if* you got back on the server without changing your name/IP, all it means is that the Renegade FDS program is even more buggy than I'd thought (which says a lot, because I already think the program sucks ass). It has absolutely nothing to do with the point of this thread, which is the appropriateness of FUD's mobile artillery description on the informational pages at fudonline.

I think we've clearly established that there's nothing wrong with the artillery description on the FUD pages, though, so why don't we all just find something better to do with our time and stop flaming each other with useless garbage that nobody can prove one way or the other anyway?
