Then you have one sub-standard computer, which is your own fault.

By the way, since you're obviously not able to comprehend this: Latency (Otherwise known as "lag") is caused only by the connection between you, the servers the data travels through, and the server itself, as well as the server's hardware specifications and its connection.

You're talking about FPS issues and that's only your fault, and yours alone. Get a better computer. :rolleyes:
