- a) n00bstories.com sometimes didn't load up
- b) i often forgett my pw, so i can't upload when I'm not online
- c) I like my skript

Don't mind if I'm using n00bstories or not, I just searching for a new host for that script.

a) n00bstories.com has never been down, It did have some slowness issues because the images were stored in an mysql database, but it has since been redone and is much faster.

b) Not being able to upload because you can't remember a password is not a legitimate reason to boycott a service lol. Try clicking the "forgot your password" link. All you have to do is enter your EMAIL ADDRESS (you can remember THAT right?) and it emails you a new password

c) I'm sure you do, and I think its cool that you made it. I'm simply pointing out that it is redundant and there is a much more stable FREE service that you and everyone can and are allready using.

I could spend the day and write an HTTP server in PERL, but wouldn't it be silly for me to then suggest other people should use it instead of Apache/IIS etc?

Again I clarify that I am not bashing your script. It's cool, but from your own admission its purpose is to provide image uploader abilities, and the community allready has this with n00bstories image hosting. And, it's on a stable provider with no bandwidth limit or popups and is completely free.

So, unless you are offering something that isn't allready provided, I don't see any benefit in using something else?
