

---

Subject: The future of computers (quantum computing)

Posted by mrpirate on Sat, 19 Jun 2004 00:29:38 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

You can't teleport, because of the heisenberg uncertainty principle. This states that just by measuring something, you're changing it. Therefore, in trying to measure the exact location of each atom in the human body (which would be necessary), you would be changing the locations.

---