nero imaging of the cd-rw cd's is crap. I think you have InCD (comes with nero, it's something that makes ur cd-rw's into drive like things). What this does is it needs to format ur disk to it's own (stupid) format. If you burn something onto it normaly, stupid nero doesn't rekignise it's own format so it burnes a new session using normal format after the InCD formated part...

i'm sure it's a session problem...

To Fix: (CD-RW)

format disk and burn again

or give ur friend a copy of ur nero and get him/her to install the InCD add-on
