Acturally its my opinion, and what i think.

Quote:I need my team to do certain jobs, that's why I have a fucking team... You know, near-professionals who know their jobs and can expedite the process of creating a game based on the W3D engine.

you didnt understand what i ment. I know you need a team to accomplish a mod. i know you need a team to do sertain jobs. but what im saying is, i havnt seen you do a god damn thing for your mod. i dunno if you do level edit cuz guess what... i dont give a shit.

Quote:Yes, because I like playing things that look good. If it looks like shit, chances are I don't want to use it.

Well what IF something was designed that way. would you use it? i dont know why you said the humvee looks like shit. the model is fine, may have a few flaws, same with the skin. but hey guess what... i'm pretty sure the models/skin in Ren Alert also has some flaws. The humvee looks like a himvee, there may not be some parts that are smoothend out. Genocide and I spent some time on the humvee and all you can say is that it looks like shit... i dont even know why you said that. forget HTML's opinion, i wanna hear yours, i wanna know why you think it looks like shit.
