Believe it or not I am finally contributing something to the Renegade community. You can also contribute to this by submitting advice or questions here for the next one of these I will be making.

Here is the first Renegade crossword which has a difficulty ranking of hard. It has 14 questions in total, and you must use a - in place of spaces. If you can not find the answers check the Renegade review section where the storyline is at, beneath the full review. You will be able to find some answers there, mainly with the different people and characters. The answers will be posted in one weeks time so you should not have to wait long, post here for any questions, suggestions, or problems with this crossword. Please do not post the answers here, you need to give people a chance to do the crossword. Besides if someone wants the answers they will post a reply asking for the answers, and if you know them just private message the person. Check below for the crossword which you can print out.

Remember to use a - in place of spaces

Here is the sample questions, the full thing can be found on my site from the link below.
