DeathgodPerhaps if I cared about my rank among the pecking order of fucktards here I might be inclined to play a game against one of their champions, but since I don't I won't. Frankly, this is a source of amusement to me. Spending time proving that I am better than others at amusing myself seems rather frivolous and I know my time is worth more than that.

Notice the glaring contradiction here? This is from FUD, who claim to be the "best clan ever" and the "only renegade players worth playing against"? I never made such a claim about MY clan :rolleyes:

Aside from anyone else, why does this have to be about "proving something"? Wasn't me that brought that up, it was you. I wanted a game, not a chance to prove what I'm pretty sure everyone knows already

Finally, I'm a "champion" here? I kinda doubt that. Not on CW either, since a fair few of them are quite a bit better than me. You want a CW "champion", talk to Uded, Homey or Clearshot.
