After reading all this thread.

I like the sub, looks cool. The nose is a odd shape but many modern subs have odd shape noses. I think the darkgrey/black textures looks a lot better than the grey ones.

What i dont understand is why someone would complain that this ...

doesnt look like this

Why are you people so obsessed with making tiny icon sized graphics into large 3d objects? It just doesnt work !

Tank the renegade Nod light tank, it looks nothing like the grey teapot that used to patrol the command & conquer game, but it does look a lot better.

Dont get me wrong, following the original should always be a basis for any work of this kind but it will only take you so far.
