I'm not trying to convert anyone, I'm not trying to change his opinion, I'm not saying he can't give his opinion. I'm simply stating the simple fact (Well, apparently it isn't that simple, as he still can't understand it.) that realism and the fact that real subs don't have them doesn't matter, that they're supposed to be there. He's the one trying to convince me that they should be removed.

If the Akula actually had these rocket launchers he wouldn't be complaining about them. But solely because the Akula doesn't, they're supposedly ugly, completely disregarding the fact that they're not based off of the real Akula but off of the Red Alert missile sub's rocket launchers.
