ppl don't seem to get it that renguard is still being updated and more... it's normal that a program like renguard has some bugs that are very annoying for someone not knowing what to do.

go to the forum and ASK for a sollution instead of saying it's bullshit.

Renguard isn't perfect everyone knows that and the developers know that all to well so let them do there work, tell them what kind of errors you get and what you've tried to fix it.

just saying it's bullshit ain't gonna fix your renguard try asking hum...

i really appreciate the work of the blackhand studios. sure, i don't want to have cheaters in an online game.

the problem that i have with renguard is that i was "forced" to use it:

if i don't install it i can't play on some of the most important servers like Tefon in germany. ok i can accept that so i installed renguard. it worked fine but suddenly (after the auto-update) it didn't work anymore. also i couldn't uninstall it because after that renegade wasn't working anymore. i had to reinstall renegade and i was really pissed off because i installed the game three times some weeks ago after i got some virus-problems. i won't install renguard on my new renegade-isntallation until there is defenetly a 100% working version of it. i read about version 1.02 and even 1.03... hope they are coming soon because my most favourite servers won't let me in without renguard.

but i am happy at all that renegade isn't already dead because it wasn't such an success for westwood and also isn't very famous, but for me it is one of the best games and THE best online-game at all.

i wish there would be more updates and some easy to install map-packs (i really have problems to install the maps at all, at least it was so some years ago when i tried it) ok what i just want to say was: thanks to the programmers of renguard, keep it on.

Look at older posts, there's a compatibility issue with 1.01, just set the compatibility mode to Windows 98/ME & it should work fine. This is an old issue, since RenGuard 1.02 will be out today I'd just uninstall it for now & wait for the newest release. Unless, of course, you wanna go through all the posts looking for how to solve the compatibility prob, quicker but slightly harder

Here's the logic of RenGuard...

As a server owner, I have the right and the privilege to say who I want in my server. If I see RenGuard and I say "Hey, I only want RenGuard-using players in my server." then that's my right. Running RenGuard is your way of affirming to the server owner that you're not cheating.

XLerator, when you download 1.02 (soon), you'll be asked if you want RenGuard to automatically install game fixes currently in development by BlackHand Studios, and also receive fan-made maps. Our hope is that this method of deployment will encourage more map makers and also get more players using fan-made maps.

I am currently developing tools for the map maker to interact with RenGuard and get their maps released. I'll be unveiling that when it's done.

Nothing starts out 100% operational, it's just not possible, you have to give it time & work to have it get from non-operational to 100% operational & that takes time. RenGuard is gonna take over the Renegade community fully 1 day & the only ppl that won't have it will be the cheaters.

& XLerator, idk what to tell you other than just wait for 1.02 to come out :rolleyes:

I have played today on the Tefon Server with Rengaurd and there always joined people with damack hacks. They destroyed the tanks with one shoot (harvester, mammy, mrls, ...) and the people too. The mods kicked them out but they always came back. So the mods close the server.

Are there new cheats or does the old damage hack still work?

Edit: It is an other cheat because, the cheater can shoot through walls. We was on City_Flying in our Base in the Biuldings and we got killed. Thats was funny.

Idea:

When the client joins the game, it autosends a message to the host that they are running reguard. Most of the big servers have IRC or something to moderate their servers, so seeing this will show that they are not cheating and they have been authorized by RenGuard to play Renegade.

because servers owners keep taking renguard on and off servers its hard to tell when u are on a server that has renguard on or not, only when people join and u see them getting auto kicked by renguard u actually know its running, sooner we know we are on a renguard protected server the better.

Because your configuration is exactly the same as everyone elses. Other people also make up the fact that they lag for no reason other than to discredit the program. It just couldn't be possible that their complaints are legitimate, even when they're respected community members making the complaints.

Also:

The server owners should disable the option in renguard.cfg:

Notify = off

Setting this to either msg or page will lagspike the server because the Console is constantly que-ing commands.

If 4 or 5 players join the server at once who dont have RenGuard it will do:

- 2x msg or 2x page = 10 commands

The FDS can only page 1 time per second, so it queues all page commands if you set it to page, bad idea.

- kick the user = 5 commands

- allow the user = 5 commands

Setting the option to page causes the most lag-SPIKES, its not constant lag.

Since i set the RenGuards notify to "off" the server doesnt lagspike anymore.

I've also discovered that not very many online Renegade games are connectively stable all the time. Nevertheless, it's not actually that big of a problem. Reguard doesnt force people to use it....firstly if a server you are a regular in, uses renguard but you no longer wish to join it or d/load renguard to play there....that makes me somewhat suspicious and says "he's hiding something"

But to cover that up you say the application is bullshit, it hurts my cdrom, my platform doesnt like it, It's a trojan horse that feeds my bank account number back to BHS in a massive BHS plot to rob the renegade community and take over the world. :rolleyes:

If you download it and use it and dont like it: give constructive feedback to them....suggestions on what changes you feel would improve renguards potential (client side - they cant do anything about server side issues, sometimes it maybe a poor connection that causes lag via the host...not renguard)

If you havent used it or dont wish to use it, you have no right to say anything about it....like it's bullshit....how the hell could you possibly know to judge it....better example you see a girl at a bar and say "she's crap in bed" when you have never even slept with her.....it's pretty stupid to make that assumption, it just makes you look like an asshole

RenGuard is great, I have only 256MB RAM, a 2.4GHz processor, & an ok graphics card. RenGuard adds no lag to my comp, it's great to know I can join servers & no longer have to be called a cheat, though most people don't wanna believe me when I say that I have RenGuard. I think it'd be nice if, in servers that aren't RenGuard protected, there were a way to make RG auto-announce that the person has RenGuard or something. So that no one will or can rightfully call the person a cheat just because the person's good.

If that can be done (which I'm sure it can), there could be an option to disable the auto-announce in non-RenGuard protected servers. Then, for the people who are good & get called a cheater alot, can have solid proof that they have RenGuard installed & active.

But of course, that's just an idea, I think alot of people would like to have that though, but that's just my opinion :rolleyes:

Give it time...soon any reputable server will have Renguard.....I used to hate it and the idea of it because it was both server and client side, but talking to RenX too much showed me how much more simple modding a server can be....Mods spend enough times checking that rule breakers are kicked but trying to look out for "cheaters" and play the game too? after a while it becomes no fun...especially if you make a mistake and ban a "cheater" who wasnt cheating....it subsequently starts flames and n00bstories posts etcetcetc need i go on?

At the end of the day it brings a sort of peace of mind that the person who killed you is better than you or it was a lag kill.

Yea I have to agree with Crimson on this one. As server owners and operators we COULD password protect the whole darn thing and keep everyone out, but we don't. Instead a select group decided enough was enough and made this server client program and if you want to play on their server then you get the client. OK nuff said...

As far as the whole EULA and crude... that is renegade. Not the FDS servers. When you connect to someones FDS using renegade as a client it is not bound by the same clauses in the EULA as the game by itself in Single player mode. Also Westwood is no longer a viable entity, only EA has rights to profits from franchise and original code. Not modifications made to the systems by 3rd parties. For instance RenAlert, or Reborn. Same goes for RenGuard.

I have 2 directories. For a multitude of reasons... I don't want to get into right now, but the good thing is when the update gets felled, and it happens, Hey its still a beta isn't it? then I have a good directory to still play the game. also the other directory is where I play single player and LAN games. (Had some issues getting to work for LAN party with renguard on.) {Partly because it was disconnected from internet at the time, I'm sure.}

I suggest always backing up your original game.exe before installing renguard, and if you don't want to installit there are still plenty of places to go to play.

I do wish we could update the Renegade client to have a special symbol or something for renguard servers in the WOL lobby though. Most do not put that they are running it in thier title anymore.

Oh and renx " 1000s of users" regarding RenGuard. I find that one hard to believe. we only have maybe 2500 players in the US right now. of that only 50% use renguard regularly and play regularly. Just look at the users online. the renguard servers are normally empty or near it. Thats ok by me.. I like smaller games anyway. But saying 1000s is not accurate. Maybe a 1000 or just under 2000 at the most use it. Nuff...
