Model and texture are both mine. If anyone remembers Red Alert, this thing tends to explode violently when destroyed. Makes for a perfect single player mission addition.

I posted here first! weeeee!

Looks nice AK, I checked this out yesterday on the site. I also read an article about crates, and rounded crates (barrels)

You can read the article here

So you guys are going to work on a Single Player missions? ...

Perhaps make coops too, that would be different.

Really, I stopped working on it? That's odd...because last time I checked, I was working on it...
:rolleyes:

Besides, I wouldn't post a fucking barrel on the Ren public forums for god's sake. At the MOST I would post news on my own website.

But congratulations to you, your barrel looks very pretty.

So, you still think I stopped working on MW? Then why the hell did I just spend the last two hours modeling a Benelli M1014 JSCS?

The mod is still running, this idea can't seem to make its way into your thick head.

And I'm flying over the Moon in a carriage made of green cheese.

Anyone can "say" they're doing things. It's when you actually "show" what you're doing that someone actually believes you for once.

Seeing as how you already promised one thing and let it die, who's to say you won't do it again?

If you'd rather just have no barrels in the game, instead of this one, you could of just said so...

It's a simple object, it's not here to make people's eyes pop out of their heads because it's so "leet"..

Ack, you obviously don't look at our WIP forums. You speak with such ignorance. In the past two-three days, Skier and I have modeled half an Iraqi city map, an M9, a Glock, worked on typeups of all the US weapons, modeled an AK-47, and started the shotgun. Look at the WIP forums to see the M9, AK-47, and Glock 18. Meanwhile, we have school, sports, and a life to attend to. Some of our work IS shown, you're just too lazy to look at it.

I speak with ignorance? I must have been speaking with a lot of intelligence when I repeatedly said you'd get nowhere.

You made untextured models! Wow! Like everyone else can!

This is the excuse of a loser. "I don't want to do anything better, or hold to my word, because I (gasp, like everyone else!) have other things besides this computer to tend to!"

Let me be the first person to say WE KNOW THAT ALREADY, NOW GET WITH SHOWING THE GOODS AND STOP BULLSHITTING.

I think we know that by now. Seeing as how it's a barrel and all, dude.

1. Yes, that statement was correct, but doesn't have to do with this. I'm talking about the fact that you think that I don't work on MW, when I do a lot more than you think.
 2. I know everyone else can do it, that's why I'm not fucking showing it off. I'm only using it to prove that I'm working on MW.
 3. I'm only saying that because I only get 1-2 hours on the computer per weeknight. (No, I'm not complaining) This contributes to your idea of me doing nothing, which is why I brought it up in the first place.

Don't see it yet... Words are meaningless 90% of the time when it pertains to people like you who promise the world and just end up lying through their teeth.

Quote:2. I know everyone else can do it, that's why I'm not fucking showing it off. I'm only using it to prove that I'm working on MW.

How does saying "I've got other things to do" proving that you're working on it?

OH. MY. GOD.

That is, by FAR, the BEST barrel I have EVER seen in my ENTIRE life. Quite simply, it makes all other barrels look like worthless pieces of shit.

Jonathan, your barrel making abilities are unparalleled. From the first look, I fell in love. From its scratchy surface to its sexy flammable icon...it was second to none. No render in the world could improve upon it--it is like a beast in its raw, poorly rendered w3d format--crying out! Shoot me! Shoot me damnit!! Oh YESSSS!!!!!!
