Hello

Thank you for your fast reply to my last inquiry. I can't believe you can handle all the pressure, great job. My new problem is i tried to registrar for the beta test; but i never got the conformation e-mail in the mail. so i tried to reregistar since i thought i put a wrong e-mail in. but apparently i didn't since the system recognised it.now i can't login for some reason; what to do?

thank

blkhand02

I Thought that happened to me too, but it turns out that my hotmail blocked it as junk mail, check your email settings.

Ditto on that. I'm definitely one of those people that needs to test the beta, since 1.02 doesn't work for me, and I can't get into any irc chats.

I changed the "inactive account" notification to allow you to re-send the email to yourself.

That's the email that's in there... I manually activated your account.

Crimson, I'll need you to do the same manual activation for me as well, if you please. I try to have the activation email sent to me, and it says that it's sending it to my (correctly spelled) email address, but I'm not getting anything. I also have no filters set. So... yeah.

I activated everyone.

The activation requirement is spam protection for the site, but there aren't any spammed accounts in there database yet, so no problem.
