WHY THE FUCK CAN'T WE GET ALONG YOU STUPID FUCKING ASS MONKEYS...

ok now that this is outta my way. I wanna say I enjoy playing at Black-Cell but yes it is ridden with quite a few cheaters at times. I don't understand why everytime something happens it is automatically Crimson's fault.

Crimson: I think you should take renguard off like one or two of the servers or figure out a Server side only way of running renguard.

It would be nice if Black-Cell would share some of their scripts with the public. But since everyone feels they have to fight over one stupid fucking program that could fix all the cheating problems this may never happen.

I mean seriously grow up. You are all acting like children. Most of the Renguard servers are empty and that is because the other bigger servers are afraid of it. But if your server has a big following you won't have any problem with People joining it is the new people that are buying renegade that wouldn't understand right away... Although most of them are n00bs they still deserve to play so some of the servers should remain unprotected or a server side only protection.

Thank you for your time.

Me too!!

You know, I can mend fences with England and Ty after some bitter-ass wars... you would think I could handle anything.

I'm a lover not a fighter.

Personally, I think the Black-Cell scripts are cool. They make Renegade much more fun to play.
