I would like to know if its possible for you guys to change the color of the private pages.

At this moment the color is dark blue. This sux because the background is gray (actually its black/transparent) ... So the messages are almost not visible.

It would be cool if you guys could change it into light blue.

(Thanks in advance for the replies...)

- Rex

BTW: I did not ask something n00bish. I didn't talk like a n00b either, so I DON'T want people to answer like: "OMG!!! STUP1D QUESTION!! ITS NTO POSIBLE!1!1!!!"

This is what I was especting.... Lotsa n00bness here on the forums... Most people are just posting to increase their post count...

Mr. Smartass: Red is already being used for messages from Nod. The reason why I want light blue, is because I don't really want to change the color. I want to keep the blue, but only make it a bit lighter so that it becomes better visible against the dark background.

EDIT: You are correct. I stand corrected. I was thinking of the auto messages, not Team chat.

Apologies.

Way easier: Edit hud_6x4_messages.dds.

KIRBY098Dumbass, how many messages from the Nod team do you get stating:

"So, what's up?"

If that confuses you, then you shouldn't be asking for video game help. You should be asking for psychological help.

What are you talking about. All messages from that come from Nod start in Red. If the private messages get sent in Red too, it will solve 1 problem (the messages will become better visible), but it will create an other (it will be a bit more difficult to see the difference between these 2 types of messages).

Is it possible to change the color with hud_6x4_messages.dds? I'm asking this because I heard it wasn't. I heard you could only change the size of the letters. (Something that I don't want!)
Thanks for the reply, btw.

Silent Kanelt is possible, just requires alot of work.

w00t

maybe just change ingame pages to light green.. as light blue is inuse for out of game pages

That could be a good idea too...

As long as the problem is being solved: Making the messages better readable. (Without interfering with other messages)

You change text background with that.

Just put these together, a few HUD skins with various colours (black, clear, dark blue, dark green and purple).

Light green = server messages (eg Connection to server interrupted/Connection to server restored)

Will there be any reanguard issue with this?I've already asked Crimson to include these as RenGuard verified skins.

As far as i know, she will do it when she has the chance.

there is one bad side about it...
if people start playing around with the commands..... 4 persons say 5x affirmative... then your screen will become purple or green or blue or whatever hud color you use lol

Besides, you can set how many lines you want to display in the registry.
