I dont want to make anyone angry about his topic. I have postted several topics about his. Some people think that they should go to the enemy base, kick some@$$ then come back feelin pretty manly. He probably wouldve if he didnt get shot down by a sniper on their way there. They get really mad and wonder why the sniper is effectivce against vehicles. This person is also known as a n00b. They want all the glory of flying a helicopter or light vehicle but dont want to take the chance of being sniped. If this is you, buy a more heavily armored vehicle, or buy a game where snipers are not in it and they can have their glory and ego. An AOW sniper has a better chance of gettin more kills than a sniper sniper. This is why they do it. If you disagree with me, than contact me later.

I agree with you, to an extent. I say snipers should be effective against lightly armored vehicles, but they are a little too strong against them, especially aircraft. I say lower their power against the vehicles a bit, and it will be fine. Because, look at the aircraft. Walls Flying and City Flying are useless maps because of the stupid snipers. Might as well go for the regular City and Walls :rolleyes:
