I have noticed that there is a lot less members on the new site. I thought maybe it's because a lot of people just signed up and looked around once then never came back, but when there are 300+ less people registered there it must be something else lol. No one else really spread the work that we moved, besides the link on one of the servers(which I think might be wrong anyway >_<).

So, come say hello at <http://www.thewarangel.net/TwA>
