I'm pretty sure they cut and run. I talked to their leader a while ago, and tried to explain to him that they were going nowhere with their current crew, which didn't have a single vehicle, weapon, or infantry modeler. The crew members are probably working on their own stuff now, individually.

I was looking forward to that Mod 'cause I liked the stuff they already made.. like the Ref, bullets, map etc. Can I have the e-mail of the leader?

lol Cpo64 who're you? yea we gave up in the end because nobody would help us and to top it all off dario wiped our entire site from planetcnc with no warning or explanation and now he never returns our emails. Also the ren community isn't a particularly good place to try and mod its full of bums who'll put your work down any chance they get. So we've moved on to half life instead.

In other words, Regenesi sucked and you couldn't find anyone to kiss your ass. Good riddance.

So getting dissed for lack of quality, apparently, is a bad thing?

You've gotta give him some credit for this community being somewhat too negative in it's appraisal of all things mod.

But I still side with everyone else on this issue, Regenesi must have really sucked.

If they ever posted updates or it ever really got anywhere, then I would be looking out for it, too, but tragically, it seems to have been shut down a while ago.
