While he may not have been a great president, he was our president, and may he rest in peace.

So because he died I have to say something that I don't believe to be true? I have great respect for any President, and again, I wish he rest in peace. [Funny only the "liberal jackass" said something along these lines.] I just didn't necessarily agree with his policies.

Or maybe you could have said NOTHING except "rest in peace" maybe? But no, just like a liberal, gotta open his fucking mouth at any opportunity.

His policies won the cold war. :rolleyes: He was a great man and I am proud to have met him.

RIP.

Cool, you met Ronald Reagan?

Also, the Soviet Union collapsing in on itself because communism doesn't really worked help end the Cold War, but Reagan putting pressure on them did contribute to the Soviet Union's downfall.

Sorry, but I'm fucking pissed at the sheer idiocy. Anyone who disgraces the honor of someone who has died is a miserable excuse for a human being. Unless of course that person killed others.

"Disgracing the honor"

Exaggerating is an art, too.

RIP Reagan, if you're 93 and have Alzheimer than I think it's better for him to pass away than to live on.

Ronald Reagan having died has NOTHING to do with how he was as a president...

So because SuperFlyingEngi said he didn't agree with Reagans policies is no reason to bring up the "have some respect for the dead" crap.

That said, may he rest in piece.

How dare you say that he was not a great president? You may not agree with his policies, but you can sure as hell see the results of it. You could have just shut your mouth and not said a word, but you had to slam a former president who DIED. Very mature. You wouldn't want someone to go, "He was an idiot, but may he rest in peace." when you die, why do you think that you should be able to do that to others? He was a brilliant mind and if the moronic republicans of the 50s wouldn't have passed the law saying a president can't be in office for more than 2 terms Reagan could very well have won another term. He was a brilliant man, a brilliant leader, and may God rest his soul.

Freedom of speech, BIATCH!

J_ball You wouldn't want someone to go, "He was an idiot, but may he rest in peace." when you die

Actually, I personally don't give a damn what someone else thinks of me once I'm dead.

J_ballHe was a brilliant mind

Even though he started suffering from the effects of Alzheimers in his second term...

J_ballif the moronic republicans of the 50s wouldn't have passed the law saying a president can't be in office for more than 2 terms Reagan could very well have won another term.

Just like every other president who has been elected for two terms.

SuperFlyingEngi

J_ballHe was a brilliant mind

Even though he started suffering from the effects of Alzheimers in his second term...

Even though it never really affected his thinking. My mom relayed this info to me. An advisor or something for Reagan gave him a 10 point list for his speech he was about to give and in ten minutes, Reagan encorporated those points into his speech without using the paper. Yeah, he wasn't brilliant...
