I installed renguard.. and it worked fine for a few days.. then renguard (i think) stopped letting me run it. Whenever i click on WestWood Online and try to connect to something it just says failed to load page, or 'Requesting Server List...'

I uninstalled renguard and it still happens... so i uninstalled renegade and still it happens..... i dunno what else to do :/.

Renguard does not alter the way your computer connects to WOL. It does not alter any settings and it uses its own protocol to communicate with the master servers.

Sounds possibly like a firewall issue...

I have that happen sometimes, I just abort the connection about 3-4 times when it won't connect & try again, fixes it for me...also, I enabled the option "Send Delay" which tends to help avoid that problem alot :rolleyes:

Yep, this shouldn't be a Renguard problem. It's been happening to me for the past couple weeks. I think it's just WOL being slow...keep retrying and you should get in.

Yeh mine keeps logging in just before the connection times out, i assume WOL is just being lazy
