You may need the visual basic run time files to run dante's final setup patch. AFAIK, it just renames an executable.

Quote:[05:13:32 PM] TheCodeSmith: so this 9915 patch, all it does is copy the game.exe and rename it to renalert.exe into the renalert dir?

[05:14:06 PM] Dante: yup

[05:14:14 PM] Dante: basically kills the renalert.exe that i used

[05:14:14 PM] Dante: its buggy, so i removed it

Chances are, that is what's giving you that 'subscript out of range' error. Try doing that manually instead.

Are you installing all the setup patches in order? Make sure you are logged in as the administrator when installing anything and disable any virus scanning software.

That's all i can think of right now.

You don't need Renegade installed for RenAlert to work, you just need a working

Renegade/cd-key to play online/wol.
