The other thread was closed but your asinine statements have to be answered.

Quote:My facts are straight; when you attack msgtpain you attack the pits and all its members. Yes we do believe in loyalty and friendship.

Quote:Okay, so when he tells people he's removing it and "fix your fucking program," as if it's my fault that it doesn't work, I guess with your logic that would be an attack on all of BHS?

NO! Unfortunately you pass yourself off as someone of consequence at BHS, so he was addressing you as such. Statements of fact.

Quote:It was between msgtpain and myself, not you.

When you attack him as I have said before you attack us all at the pits, we are a close nit bunch, that is something you never understood or are you capable of!

Quote:If you are not in the tech support for BHS, then stay the hell away from helping people, disconnecting and reconnecting servers and pretending to be the know it all.

Quote:There is no "Tech support," we all do our part to help this community in whatever way we can. If you can't accept that, shut the fuck up or find something else to whine about.

You call what you do in this community helping? You are the most obnoxious, immature, foul mouthed, insecure, inconsiderate and egotistical maniac that I have ever seen in real and cyber life.

Quote:This is not about you; it is about your involvement in RG. I take no pleasure in pointing out your behavior however that is what and who you are. Either live with it and accept it, or change your ways.

Quote:You haven't got any idea of who I am or what I am. Once again, take your "I'm holier than thou" garbage and find something better to do than whine.

I think everyone that has had any type of encounter with you knows you very well! You are transparent and not very hard to read!

The only whining I have seen is every time you play or have something to say, as I said you in your utter ignorance attacking msgtpain about his removal of RG is an attack on all those involved in the pits.

You want to be an idiot! That is perfectly fine by me.

Next time you are playing on the pits server the one that you were kicked out of for your behavior, the one that you vowed not to return to, make sure you walk on eggs. We are watching you!

It looks like I'm not the only one who sees you delving into that liberal style of "attack someone's personality because you can't argue with their statements."

Have fun doing that, as I said before I have nothing to do with you and I do not like you. I refuse to read that long-winded tirade about things you know nothing about... Quote:When you attack him as I have said before you attack us all at the pits, we are a close nit bunch, that is something you never understood or are you capable of!

This statement cinches the notion that you know absolutely nothing about me, which makes my refusal to read the rest of that garbage all the more justified.

One could surmise that your own code of ethics is rather poor, since you feel the need to drag all of this public and get into a fight you really don't want me to put my full weight into.
