well I pmed my bot in irc and setup my name as an authorized nick, when i join game it tells me to enter password but when I do it says access denied yet I enter information, and another error I get is "you are not in game so you can auth yourself" is there a way to remove myself from auth or reset it or something?

N00bstories servers have been having the exact same problems with this as well as some others. I think it must be a global problem, you'll have to ask/wait for a reply from an administrator.

You can auth yourself with !auth nick in main irc chat if you have +v or above and to remove the protection you have to edit the litesql database

Editing the brenbot.dat is easy, i've done it many times. Just look on <http://www.sqlite.org/> to find all the details (its an sqlite database, not mysql).

If you have any probs doing it pm me, but bear in mind I don't check these forums every day.
