WOW i always wanted to do that, one of my friends can do some on that but not as good as on the vid. I'm going to dl and watch it and try not to lose any of my pens.
<http://240gp.ovh.net/~koreus/404.html> read the message in the test box

Actually I can do that. I learned in part from my sister, who used to twirl batons, and in part during my spanish exam, which I consequently failed. It looks more difficult than it is in the movie since its like 8 fps.

Ohh cool, you can? Could you make a step by step video and show us all here how, I would like to know how, I have made a slight improvement from when I started this a few minutes ago. I can keep the pen in my hand for more than 2 seconds now.

My friends and I are total nerds, so we would probably just throw the pen back and forth at each other while screaming stupid things like "SELF-PROPELLED HOWITZER" or "FINAL PEN ATTACK" or other inane crap

That's pretty cool, though, I wish I could do that, but frankly my attention span is too short to spend more than ten minutes trying to learn it.

Lol. I don't have a digital video camera. Anyway, it's not really that hard. It would be more helpful to have freeze-frames anyway. If you really want to learn how to do it, get something other than a pen/pencil, such as an actual baton, or maybe a wooden rod like 2 ft long. Then goof around with it, seeing how you can manipulate the baton or whatever with just one hand. That's probably the best way to learn.

I can do it with a baton at a fair speed, but not with a pen, guess I gotta practice more then. Or use a smaller baton. . . .
