I dont think that is lmao..god that they are enforcing the rules at least, no offence. Sounds like a good mod, but what is the purpose/how is the gameplay?*Leaves for the third time*Ugh, i really should go get some sleep now.

You convert the object you want to "extrude" a new ment should appear which has red squares/trangles & a cube etc etc, scroll down a bit until you will reach extrude now where you saw the red square earlier click that and select the square you want to extrude, now go back to extrude ith ur square selected and put a number into the xtrude number box experiment with it until you get what you want!--Shaun--ps- this is how I made the levels on my C&C_Towers map!

or instead of typing in you can just click in the viewport and drag till it's out as far as you want.To make this easier, it's usually a good idea to have smooth + highlights checked and edged faces checked (right click on the vieport name, ie Perspective or User located in the top left of the viewport)
