I have seen this before and it often gets silly and ridiculous.

I thought it might be fun.

The idea is that you ask a question and the person below answers it and posts another question.

So here goes.....

And the sky is blue because of lightwaves coming from the sky, and due to the properties of the blue wavelength, it gets shattered by the water droplets in the atmosphere. There's a shit load more about why sunset/rise is reddish, but I won't go into that.
