It has been brought to my attention by some noob admin that Renguard is a cheat. Im no noob and of course I know this is false. This individual also claims that it gives players an advantage.
The reason I bring this up is because this noob admin still thinks I cheat. But I use Renguard. I would some technical explanation of what Renguard does. Wether it be in this thread or an email to me. Thank you very much.

mrpirateWelcome, Ramrod! Which admin?

LORDSOL=[UN]= i believe it is no more needs to be said there

apart from maybe read this thread in the UN forums title need confirmation on some cheats
http://un.w1ley.net/viewtopic.php?t=1210&sid=3d319d27e37b18711961ece0c9b26425

nothing strange in the title till you read the first 3 lines Quote:Hey alk, i dont know if you have done this yet, but If UN members get a hold of cheats, you should keep em (but not by any means, use them in a multiplayer game). And here's why. first of all, it seems NO one knows what cheats are real and what ones arent aside from FinalRen and BH. So If the UN finds cheats, they should keep and test them to see what they do

I was going to post a cheat for them to test out that I made. But their forums wouldn't let me register. It tells me that I'm registered but when I go to log in it says my password is invalid. I also didn't recieve any account activation e-mail (if they send one) But anyways here is a cheat I made . . . Hopefully someone here can post it on their forums.

Like, why are posting cheats on the renegade forum?
We're trying to get rid of cheaters/cheating, not attract more...

Funny hack lol. You can destroy enemy base in one minute. LoL!
I tested it on lan game and it don't work in multiplayer.

Spreegem, was it wise to actually give the instructions to bypass Westwood's system of blocking WOL access when certain files are in the data directory? I thought you'd want people to use it for single player or to jerk around on a LAN game or whatever.
