No not all are local, however many of us live in Augusta GA. We had players from Germany, California, Michigan, North Carolina, & Florida. We have a close knit group in our clan and the Renwarz server. It was fun putting faces to familiar game names.

The extent? It's called money. Something that most of us teenaged punks don't have a lot of.

Wow... we just did the same thing for The Pits for the 4th of July. We had people come from as far as Australia, though most came from the Western USA. Blazer and I drove to LA from Phoenix to attend. It was a huge gathering (about 30 people)... VERY fun, and a little Renegade was played.

We actually didn't play much - all those computers you see are in my upstairs "central command" rather than a LAN setup LOL . We just used the game as an excuse to have a big party & meet familiar gamers...
