Doesn't belong here but I felt like sharing it anyway. This is what I meant by "I live in paradise."

Funny name for a bay, but very scenic.

Nicely photographed.

You live in a tree ?

Joke, Nice pic must be great when the sky is a real deep red and it reflects off the water same with the moon's reflection I'd expect.

Yes, I also got a crappy photograph of a school of dolphins that were surfacing pretty close to where I was standing. There's wild dolphins all over the place here, often times you can look out and see them surface to use their blowholes.

That's a very nice picture and you should submit it to the webshots gallery (below). you'll see a lot of stuff there much like your own. In fact it almost looks like you've stolen a picture out of there.

Take a look through this section to see what I mean;

Just to clarify, I didn't steal it. Somehow the DeviantART website reads your camera information from the images and I guess that's the "proof" that you made them.

Buy an aquaman suit, become friends with the dolphins, and ride them to work every day. All your coworkers will be like, "What the F&^*^..."

With a view like that, why would you ever want to live somewhere else?

That does not look like a paradise to me... looks more like an evil place...
