Lately our servers and BRenBot have been acting wierd, yesterday BRenBot started doing this...

BRenBot is saying everything numerous times and it is very annoying ingame. Does anyone know how to fix this?

I dont think is a misconfiguration. I have seen it before, it happens in BRenBot 1.35 sometimes. Its a bug.

The automatic recommendations also dont work correct in 1.35

I suggest you replace the brenbot.exe with the (in my experience) more steady 1.31 version brenbot.exe

The problems will be solved then.

BRenBot 1.31 Executable [WIN32]

For brenbot 1.31 to function properly you need a file called perlglob.exe in the brenbot directory: perlglob.exe [WIN32]

However, if you run RenGuard (i hope you do) you must know that BRenBot 1.31 does not have this Built-in.

You need to download the RenGuard SSC-1.02 and run this seperately alongside brenbot 1.31. BRenBot 1.36 is under contruction still Mac is working on this as well as on the CP1 to have all features fixed etc.

This will hopefully be released soon. BRenBot 1.36 will have RenGuard built-in then naturally as well as serverside seamlessly integrated BHS.dll and CP1 specific features.

Thanks, I'll pass this on and see what DarkKnight wants to do.

Yeah, you're also causing errors on n00bstories IRC. Something is weird.

I have downgraded the bot. going to see if that fixes the problem.

i do have a question... Rengard runs side by side now, and is not built in on the older vision... can any one help me set it up?

do i need to just install it into the folder?

Install it into a seperate directory and configure the ports and paths just like you did for brenbot.
