Sorry, fellah's.. I'm taken. Aircraftkiller, I don't even know if I should respond to your blind assumptions but I will anyway. First of all I don't ask or act like I need any kind of special attention. I can't stop the way people are reacting to my post. Secondly, I got no idea who, Lynne is, and if you can determine who someone is just by the way they type, you should go work for the FBI and catch cyber criminals. Because, not even the FBI knows how to do that.

Though, there are some people who are easy to spot by the way they type but it's usually because they make the same kinds of error's and have a limited vocabulary so in some instances you can. I'm not here to cause any trouble with anyone. Just trying to get to know everyone and chat a little. If that bother's people.. Then I'm not sorry.

I just don't trust you, something says not to. Maybe I'll have a different opinion later on as I observe your actions.

Though it is kind of odd how you start typing improperly now that I say something about it...

Oh, and the ".." doesn't help much either. Only a few people do that 66% elipsis, TankClash, msgtpain, Lynne, and a few others.

So, what you're saying is, if someone else comes along and uses ".." that they have to be someone who has been here before? Another thing, I don't care if you trust me or not. It's not like anyone here depends on me for anything so trust really isn't an issue.

Anyways, this will just be a pointless arguement where neither side will get anything really communicated here. Like you said, you'll just have to wait and decide for yourself.

Trust isn't always in the sense of depending on someone. It can also be trust as in having faith in you being who you say you are.

And no, I wasn't basing it off the 66% elipsis alone but you probably had no intention of answering the rest of it, so whatever.

Not if you know the whole "lynne" story.... You'd be saying "what a cold blooded bitch.." None of that was meant as a slam against GunVixen.. unless of course, she is Lynne Still, the whole Lynne story is sketchy at best. It can't be proven or disproven if she really was telling the truth or just playing a horribly cruel joke on us.

It is wise to be skeptical, but surely there is still a part of you that wants to believe what Lynne said is true.

I know the Lynne story. I was there when the whole thing unfolded. I didn't take it as a slam against GunVixen, but more like a "re-open old wounds" kinda thing. Anyway, I don't want to get into it since it wasn't anything that was personal to me. But I'd just leave the subject matter alone if I were you and let the people who were personally involved work it out themselves if they want to.

Can't have metal without the metal hair. (still growing it)

Also, it's interesting to see so many bass players on the forums. I play bass myself.

I'm a guitarist, and I love metal too!

Although I don't have the metal hair.

I see.. thanks for the advice.. I totally forgot that I wasn't personally involved at all.. glad you reminded me..

Umbral_DelaFlare, you're right.. it is "sketchy at best".. but you have to admit that the story is a beauty. A chick who has an online relationship with someone, tells us (not them directly) that she just came down with lung cancer and has to go to the hospital tomorrow for a "live or die" surgery. The next day, (and for a week or so) her sister tells us that she died in the surgery, sorry for your loss, have a nice day.. for the next 3 weeks, three different accounts with the same IP as Lynne played on my server, logged in to my forums, etc.. We even subscribed to the vital statistics mail lists for Alberta, just to see when her name came across them; never did.. We even had a side joke in our admin group of "wait 6 months, she'll be back".. imagine our surprise about 5-6 months later when lynne magically appears from a vacation at her grandmothers house in seattle, where she was forbidden to use the internet; only to come home and find out that her sister was having a secret syber-sex affair with another community member, and was jealous of all her attention.. so as she was "recovering" from her surgery, she conveniently killed her off, and went about her business.. "Lets just forget about all that, I'm back now, okay"..

yea.. lol, "sketchy at best".. You honestly have no idea how many conversations we all had, how many posts I had backed her up on when people started calling her a liar earlier that summer, etc.. then I get a colostomy bag tossed in my lap.. you could say I was a little bitter about it all, I guess.

lol, suave, ACK.

Interesting info too....

The spooky thing about the Lynne fiasco is how deceptively intricate the internet persona was. In one hand, you have a person typically sharing one's life online and in the other hand, the same sharing is an elaborate web of mis-information developing a character that is dynamic and changes with the social forces from others.

Altogether intriguing, but unnerving too, to think about who would spend so much time on what would seem to be a psychology project?

EDIT: If you're having a hard time understanding, think about trust and faith. When those two are misplaced and backfires in your face, you remember. For some it's a matter of 'trick me once, shame on you, trick me twice, shame on me' while others, it's a whole other story.

It's the only picture I have right now. it was taken during the soundcheck in a local bar where we had to play with my band. We had someone who took some pictures during the "show" but they didn't look cool. it's hard to take pictures while you're standing in a mosh pit ohh, btw, that bass amplifier is NOT MINE. It was from an other band. But I had to play on their's. But that bass guitar is mine. I play on a spector Ns 2000 Q4. and I have a SWR black beauty bass combo plus a Goliath 3. so I have enough horse power.

Oh, right, Yamaha DXTREME IIS electric set. My local communist laws prohibit me from using an acoustic set (the kind you picture when you think of a drum set) because they're loud as fuck. Hence, the electric set, silent, unless, of course, I hook it up to a few guitar amps.

I'm not a drummer, but I know what a electric drum set is. Is there a difference between an acoustic one and a electric one? I mean, the way you play it. on a electric drumset you're just smashing on plastic.

@ slayer -

You'd play an electric drumset exactly how you'd play an acoustic. Some of the crappy ones are rubber coated, so when you're doing rudiments (such as a roll) on the snare pad, you get nasty kickback, moreso than with an acoustic head. This leads to wrist injuries - unfun. God sets have mesh heads that are similar to acoustic heads. The benefit of an electric set is the wide array of sounds you have at your disposal, and the silence. For example, I could play an entire orchestra's percussion group, say, 8 people, on that one set, just by setting up all but one drum to play certain instruments, and the remaining drum would be used to switch "kits" so different sounds can be programmed for a single pad.

Kind of confusing, yep.

Pretty much it's a programmable drum.

Still, no picture...

I'm not very camera friendly, and couldn't get a good picture of me. Here's an older one when my hair was still as bright as the sun:

DethHav0ccowmisfitsniper12345cowmisfitDanI'm surprised that there seems to be more bass players than guitar players on this forum... I too, play bass. Fender Squier P-Bass with a 20w Stagg amp, if you like to know

Im a guitar player. Ibanez AX 120 , Fender Strat, a Pevey 45 watt, Fender 45 watt, Pevey 250 watt

Gibson SG Special, Yamaha F-20 30 W Amp, Digitech RP200 pedal.

The Angus Young Signiture is my dream guitar. You Lucky SOB

Mine too Atm i only have a cheap strat copy, but i do have a Marshall MG100W DFX and a Zoom 707 Pedal

Have to save up for the SG! Angus Rocks

My next guitar is going to be a 7-string. And that means an Ibanez.

Yea, I've played a Jem at a guitar store, and the necks are so sweet. Especially for someone who loves speed.

Ibanez electric guitars are great. But, I don't like their bass guitars. I don't like the sound of it. I stick with spector. Spector bass guitars have such a hot electric signal coming out of the Emg's pick ups.

AircraftkillerQuote:OMG!!! Is THAT you!???? I expected.... er..... I dont know what I expected

Uhh.. Want to rephrase that?

Well I kind of expected something bad, but it wasn't that at all.... :dontgetit:

Oh well

B.T.W.: I didn't want to offend you or something, although I think that I did by saying that... If I did, I'm sorry...

"Hey PUNKS stops with the HEAVY METAL crap."

Nothing, just thought I might point that out.

My psychic powers inform me that you have a mirror in your bathroom.

I should upload a picture of myself, might later, inside of my secret disguise...

YSLMuffinsI've seen Crimson, but I have no idea what Blazer looks like.

Really? I remember awhile back ago Crimson or Blazer posted a picture of both of them, and along with DJlabtop, standing in front of this statue of a boy that looked like the statue Dr. Evil used to lauch himself in space in Austin Power, but I cannot find a name for the restraint.

Final Renegade has the picture on it when you start it up, but I wouldn't advise anybody to download FR for that reason, or for any reason.

Yeah, as much as I'd love to go out and buy supplies right after a hurricane hits... I'm really more concerned with staying alive.

It's sort of, you know, really hard to bathe and clean your face off when you're in the aftermath of a fucking category four storm that knocked power offline for five days. :rolleyes:

Popping them will generally leave a scar on your face, or an indentation. I prefer not having either.

I've been doing it forever with no scars/indentions. If you dun pop them they grow lips and start talking.

GunVixenThis picture was taken last Thanksgiving.

o.O!!! you look almost exactly like someone I know... only you have longer hair...

and ACK, you look kinda like a criminal...

j_ball430ScampGay dancer?
I was gonna guess a gay model, but that'll work.

I would have said (gay) stripper...
