I recommend you to not use .Net, since it sucks big time.

Yes...its the reason we didn't do RG in .Net. There are decompilers available that TOTALLY decompile .net executables back to their original source

The .Net framework is required to run .Net applications.

honestly, who would bother getting the sourcecode?

It's almost easier to make a program that does that.

That was just an example of how fucked up .Net is. I could make that connect program in no time in other languages.

That would be helpful if I actually Played UN servers, but guess what? I don't, so that's no help to me at all. Now that WOL is back up, I don't even have to consider downloading that app.
