My server will be down and out around June 30th. My website will also be gone. I still havn't been able to get a job here in DC, and I am being forced to move out of my apt at the end of the month. I will not be able to afford keep my current 1.1 SDSL service. If you wish to make a donation the gesture is very appreciated but its just too late.I have enjoyed playing with the various regulars who visit my server, and from what I am told my server is/was one of the better ones. I will miss it as much as everyone else.I will most likely be offline indefinitely. If I can find a free dialup or something I may hop on to see whats up from time to time.I am going to try to find a volunteer to host my domain and website until I find a job and can afford to host it again. I will make sure to let everyone know where my site has moved to, so that people can continue to download BlazeRotate and share soundpacks.

If you need a server to temporarily host your site, I can make arrangements for you to be hosted on my server.

Good luck, I hate when we lose such great members of the community, even when I didn't know them.

Hope you get back to normal soon Blazer, it's a shame that the community is losing you. I use your Countdown and C4 mods and they are both great.

The job call didn't turn up anything. They were looking for someone with lots of Weglogic (a commercial web server platform) experience, which I dont have. Oh well I will keep on trying
