I know this is such a stupid topic, but I think we should all write things we have done at school to nearly get suspended... I have three

1. Throwing snowballs at cars in winter has a tendency to make them get out and report you.
2. Picking up empty beer bottles left by the high school students and chucking them onto the road, only to have the person who left the bottles there run over the shards of glass, get out of his car, and chase a fellow student until that student ran to a teacher (well, I guess that is okay, but if he got caught I would have a a better laugh)
3. Putting stuff like yogurt and apples on the road to get ran over (the best one was a block of cheese!)

What is in your school history?

Well, yesterday on the bus one of my good friends (girl) pulled down my pants for fun. :rolleyes:
She was laughing and the bus driver though she was giving me head and was screaming at me.
Just a lovely moment in meh life that I shouldn't have shared.

1. A freind called me a queer one to many times and i beat the fuck out of him in the locker row and walked away, someone saw me and him fighting and went and told on us, we went to the principle but just said we were playing around so we wouldn't get suspended.
 2. When asked how to get money with no job i said to my freind "selling grass duh" and the teacher heard me but i was like "MOWING the grass duh"
 3. The preps told the school they were worried about me and my freinds and we were on drugs and all this crap, so they called all of our houses. I and 3 other buddies got on AIM and said if we found out who told them that we were gonna beat the livving hell out of them. SOmeone printed it out and took it to school and athorites as a threat. Cops ask around school ask around for about a week of my freinds saying they didn't know who the screennames were, they finally called AOL got my name and my freinds names. I was called to principle office along with the school cop and a real cop there. BLAH BLAH BLAH almost got arrested BLAH BLAH BLAH just about pissed my pants.
 4. Screaming Fuck for no reason, just to do it for laughs.
 5. Making fun of kids, i had to go to gidence counciler a lot in middle school for that one. OMG OMG ZACH YOU HAVE TO STOP MAKING FUN OF KIDS ON THE BUS, YOU KNOW HOW RAIN FALLS ON YOU AND YOU DON'T LIKE IT< WELL THATS HOW YOUR WORDS ARE WHENT HEY FALL ON PEOPLE. <<< I Laughed at them for that one. But ya i am an asshole and will say do anything just to get a few laughs.
- Many more things i just can't rember at the moment.

AIM > AOL.

I don't know, I think the only way to get suspended from my fucked up school is by carrying a deadly weapon. If any teacher sees you doing something wrong, they just tell you to stop.

My school is as close to a concentration camp as you can get, except without the ovens.

We do have a small pond behind our school, I don't know if anything lives in there. But this one kid did a swan dive into it last year. That was kind of funny. He walked around inside a little bit before someone saw him.

I was busted twice that I can really remember. Once, my buddy got us busted for getting baked at lunch hour. In our math test, he could not stop giggling and being a tool. Second time, my female freind brought some of her dads home-brew to school, and I was going to put it in my locker, and the teacher was coming out of her room just as we pulled it out of her bag. Not very good timing on our part lol, this is funny, although I didn't get into any trouble..

Our maths teacher was absent and our history teacher was substituting...and for some reason, I just laughed at everything like a madman. First it would be the corner I was sitting in laughing, then suddenly it'll just be me laughing and then everyone would start laughing too. So I jsut laughed for a whole lesson straight...

And guess what the next lesson was?

History. So I laughed the entire History lesson away too. Poor teacher, had to deal with 2 hours of random and hysterical laughter from me.

Sw33t, say something intellingent other than "I HAV BEN SISPENDEED SEVREL TIEMES"

Well, I don't really get in trouble much . . . umm . . . I rember last year in 9th grade me and my friend got yelled at for going to all 3 lunch periods because our teacher for C++ programming hadn't showed up for 3 days in a row and there was no sub so we figured, what the hell, lets go to all 3 lunches instead of only the last 2. Then we all got pizza after because our teacher felt bad for us LOL then another time cake, and other time sandwiches in that class.

Also we got in yelled at for "Hacking the system" (That's what the teacher said) I was in solitaire, we were using the command prompt, we were in Microsoft Chat (to get on IRC), and a couple other things. . . We were doing all this by accessing the middle school computers through my network places, which we had to access using IE by going to file > open. Then we went to my network places, founf a computer un blocked, then opened whatever program we wanted and used it My friend also got access to the Pricipal's documents, but audviously we didn't tell any one about that one. . .

This here is nothing we did, but were thinking of doing! . . . We were thinking about changing the middle school annoucement backgrounds (they are shown on TV) to some porno pictures or something of the sort, and also the end of the year slide show to a picture of the principal giving a dog a blow job LOL We had the password to someone elses account who had left the school several months before so we couldn't get blamed for it . . .

I got to a private school I don't get away this jack shit. My principal is a priest so we can't do anything to him. Some people at my school brought digicams to school and went upskirting and now we don't have skirts allowed at our school for girls. DAMN THEM TO HELL.

OOOOOOOOO.. I thought of one from Elemetary school.... In fourth Grade I had a bitch for a teacher. One day I was tired of the teacher yelling at all of us all the time so I spazzed out and told the teacher to screw off. (Yes I did say screw off.) I got in a shit load of trouble and ended up with 47 detentions by the end of that year.

Hmmm... I never really got in trouble in my high school years, but one of my friends did. My friends and I were able to pop the hood of my math teachers car. Then one of my friends spontaneously began to piss in the radiator. Then he got the bright idea of taking the oil cap of and taking a shit in the engine. As soon as he started to release his load one of the school staff members caught him. We were around the corner so we didn't get caught. As soo as we heard the school staff member shout we ran for the hills. We didn't get caught but my friend did.

My friend got suspended for a whole week. We started calling him Mr. Shits ever since.

As for my own personal stories hmm I dont really got any good ones the most ive got was a in school detension in like grade 3...for fighting some kid. I now go to a catholic school but other then the uniforms its no worse then anyother high school. We can sware as much as we want as long as its not like directed to the teacher or like in front of the class. The teachers could care less if you say like FUCK out of nowhere when in the hallways ect. but its like some policy if you do it like infront of your class or w/e.

I go to public and if you say FUCK and a teacher see's you 95% of them will send you to principle and bang your gone for 3 days of OSS

This topic is too good not to reply to.

Well in my schhol years, I think it was seventh grade when a teacher wanted us to pick a complex word with many definitions and uses, and define as many as we could orally... Guess what I picked? "Fuck" I stood up, walked to the front and just started saying what I remembered out of the dictionary on the many meanings and uses of fuck, now the teacher laughed his ass off, but since the school I went to was a feckin' christian school over here it got around and the principal was seriously pissed.

for once who class I imitated Alex from "A clockwork orange" he didn't like it when I called everyone "brother" and reffered to my "zoobies" being too large to answer certain questions.

Well once the shop teacher (this was the coolest teacher ever, seriously) taught us how to take the safety off of nail guns, so we were testing this when suddenly this guy I know, real military brat, use to be in Korea before his dad quit and moved to Shanghai to start some fucked up business or such, he started pissing down on me like there was no tommorow, so I got somewhat violent with the nail gun, his hand got nailed to the table by the skin thats in between your index finger and thumb. (It's not lethal really, but he screamed like an animal being slaughtered, funny as it is the shop teacher sided with me and thus no suspension, had to promise not to do it again though <_<;)

The 'eggs flung with bra off the roof at school brats' incident, apparently we hit a teacher, bless my ex for donating the bra though.

Super glue in the lock of the principles car incident I was suspected for, Alas I can't claim I did it, because I really didn't do it.

mixing hand lotion and water in to a water-gun and shooting it at random passers by, now known as the 'sp00j gun' =D

Messing up in chemistry and blowing up one perfectly good table and getting some shirts burned, I still insist that it wasn't my fault! How was I supposed to know it would react baddly to an open flame.

spilling super-lax in to the teachers coffee pot in the staffroom, they suspected me, and rightfully so.

Hmm, most of this is pranks and such I did in school and got detention or warnings of detention for, hehehee, fun to recall.

Getting me and friends to go to the school halloween party as 'islamic terrorists' with replica AK-47's, seriously, imagine a group of ten muslim looking guys charging in screaming in strange languages, chaos insued untill we pulled our masks off.

oh and once the guy who sat behind me slipped a pin on to my chair in a class while I was standing up to answer something, when I sat down ... well I went up and over my desk on to the back of my friend sitting infront of me, and they blamed me. <_<;

Did some other things, lots actually, funny thing is that I passed highschool with flying colours.

I almost got suspended for looking at peoples grades(on the comp) the main drive on the school comps used to be accesible, and I was lookign around and saw something that said grade something(couple years ago) The thing had a password and me and my friends were trying to guess it. Well with one password it looked like it was opening the file(But the comp froze and the loading symbol was frozen there)Anyway a teacher happened to be looking at my screen and sent me to the office for trying to cheat(thought I got in and I was gonna change my grades) The dumb thing was the comp froze, the pass was wrong, and I found out it was for the wrong grade anyway. That was my closest
