Make Reborn not suck, and you won't get that kind of comment. It's a cause and effect situation:

Reborn bashed us to start all of this > Reborn goes down the tubes > People bash the fuck out of Reborn > You cry foul after getting what you threw out at us.

Are you hypocritical? Yes, I believe so.

There isn't going to be any "peace," you suck, Reborn sucks, and your "team" sucks...

Contrary to your assumption (Yes, that's what you made, you know very little) I am on no "high horse" and would prefer you present things in a less biased manner... But that's probably expecting too much from someone who can actually hate someone on the Internet. Someone he's never met, never will meet, and knows nothing about. Harboring hate for others is not cool, champ.

Even more proof that Renardin's peace crap is nothing more then a facade. You attack Aircraftkiller, and the mod (and thus, everyone on the team), and at the same time whine about how you want peace and for everyone to stop attacking you and your "mod". Hey, here's an idea, stop attacking us, everyone who doesn't kiss your ass all the time, and actually take constructive criticism from people without going off on them, and use it to improve your "mod" instead of just ignoring it, and maybe people won't attack you and Reborn.

Quote:Well Aircraftkiller, the first release of RenAlert sucked too, it got better. This is only the first release of Reborn. RenAlert got better. We gave RenAlert a second chance, but you can't give Reborn a second chance.

They got their second chance, many many chances ago.

It doesn't matter if it's their first release, what matters is that their first release IS their current release, that in the 2 years they've been working on that "mod", they only made one release a year ago which is barely fit for alpha (internal/in team) testing.

Everything that the Reborn team posts, you think that it is 'crap' or 'shit' or 'looks like concrete'. If Reborn has lost their chance for you giving them constructive criticism, calling their models 'shit' or saying that it 'looks like concrete' doesn't help anybody.

Quote:You can't keep on a single subject, you swich around and play smoke-and-mirrors to try to get me to bite on a subject that you think you've got more ability to debate in.

Honestly, I wasn't trying to change the subject. It just went that way. I just want everybody to shut up and stop being assholes.

Just for a minute ACK, pretend that you are on the Reborn team. Just look at yourself from their point of view.

AircraftkillerNo.

So... You actually want to stir up problems here?

AircraftkillerThat wasn't really constructive by the standards of our friendly whining children here. It was simply an observation.

If you have specific problems you can obviously circle them on the image and post the image.

ACKToo much artistic "liberty", not enough Tiberian Sun. Like always with Reborn.

Let me count the artistic liberty in RenAlert...

1. There is an actual model of the light tank in the 2nd or 3rd Allied briefing movie (top right corner). This model does not look like the model in game.
2. Snipers were originally not in the game, however they are on both sides in Renegade Alert. (Yes, I do know that there is a sniper weapon in the rules.ini)
3. Volkov has an anti-tank gun.

The point is, you're allowed to make the mod how you want it. Reborn has the right to make it how they want to make it. That is their decision. You might disagree with it, but that doesn't make it wrong.

If you want them to stop attacking Reborn, why don't you actually go for the source of the problem? You sound like a Democrat, ignoring the real problem while putting the blame on everyone but who deserves it.

If I steal from someone, and lie to them about it - punching me would be a logical course of action for that person. Yet, you would blame the person who retaliated instead me, because I caused the entire situation.

That's faulty logic. You encourage Reborn to continue making crap, because as long as they do someone will bash it and you'll be right there to try and defend their crappy work, instead of asking for it to be made better.

Quote:1. There is an actual model of the light tank in the 2nd or 3rd Allied briefing movie (top right corner). This model does not look like the model in game.

Take a screenshot and show it, I've never seen the Light Tank in any mission video except for the second Soviet "Try to steal the Chronosphere" video. In that, it was a M-60 Patton battle tank.

Snipers are a logical addition to any army in reality, and we added them because they did appear in Red Alert and are a necessary addition for anti-infantry duties. It appeals to a wider crowd, makes soldiers less dominating against vehicles, and also keeps it true to the original game.

Volkov had several different weapons, including a silenced sniper rifle, silenced pistol, and a silenced cannon that fired high explosive rounds which decimated everything. This was all in Red Alert. What's your point?

Now, for the rest of your gibberish... The reason I say their work is bad just might be because it's bad. Why is that so hard to understand? Making work does not automatically grant it "OMG TAHTS TEH GOOD STUFFZ" remarks. Another fallacy of logic you keep practicing.

I look at myself from several different points of view. This is why I insist on the highest quality possible while trying to please the fanbase and stay true to Red Alert at the same time. I have been through the "omg ranalart suxxxxx" bullshit enough with our first two releases and resolved to make them surpass anything for this game that will ever come out.

If Reborn can't do that, then that's their own problem.

fact P Pronunciation Key (fkt) n.

Knowledge or information based on real occurrences: an account based on fact; a blur of fact and fancy.

Something demonstrated to exist or known to have existed

Is it not a fact that my opinion of Reborn exists, and as such, it paints Reborn in a bad light (not that they haven't helped this a LOT) too? Find out the definition of words before you argue about them, please.

Even if that tank was a Light Tank, it's damn near impossible to see any details on it or figure out what the fuck it was based on.

The ghost idea is completely dumb anyway.
About the things reborn creates... Well do you even think Obelisk or Tiberium is real ?
Tiberian Sun universe is science-fiction, it allows creativity but we don't add paranormal shits like your ghosts or the crappy woods of Robin Hood...
Imagine this : Reborn with a map based on the little mermaid universe... Jesus... I am happy about one 'fact' : You can't decide anything for Reborn.
I read all the topics above. One difference between Reborn team and you.

Well because of Ignatio Mobius...

Gdi after the first tiberian war got some new toys :

Moebius made those weapons... After Havoc rescued him, he gave the technology to gdi... Simple and possible

Besides the fact that we never said we were "copying" Red Alert, the only thing that matters is that there was a sniper (rifle) in Red Alert in some way. And like we already said (but of course, you weren't able to comprehend), the ghost thing is for a single map, it's not a mod feature.

Renardin, continue on your merry mod way and do it however you want. If it's fun you succeeded. No one should shoot for total accuracy if it detracts playability and enjoyment of a mod. If it's gonna be fun to be a GDI Tiberium soldier, than give me a Reborn with a tiberium soldier. Just keep working and don't TRY to start flamewars as in this case. Eventually if the flames stop and people just get diligently working, and be civil. Maybe the past transgressions can be forgotten. I looked back a long time through 108 pages of mod forum. I found this:

<http://www.renegadeforums.com/viewtopic.php?t=1856>

Scroll till you see Aircraftkiller post. He didn't come into this with a bias against you guys. Way back when, he didn't hate you guys at all. He stated, in PUBLIC. He respected Reborn. Maybe your team just needs to get in gear and ready yourselves up for a good release. Create a system for bug reporting, really address the problems that people may encounter. Fix those, and you may be back in good graces with everyone. A nan can change... So can a mod.

Don't act like a fool by assuming and you won't get called one, it's a pretty simple way of not getting "insulted" by a fucking word on a forum.

You call people names like a 6 year old then insult them more when they take offence to it. When they try to explain how childish you are you use the "No I'm not, you are" type of come back and say they are being hypocritical. You really are like a primary school child, please grow up.

And you whine like a three year old and throw temper tantrums when you don't get your way, what's your point retard?

Stop using "grow up" as if it's actually insulting. I am probably older than you are and are thus "grown up" compared to you, and more importantly you should also stop using your subjective view of maturity as a basis to tell anyone to grow up when your maturity views are not what everyone subscribes to.

I'm older than both of you and this is getting old.

Renardin, if you want to actually start a dev studio fine, but you better learn how to take criticism if and when your products don't work like they should. You don't fire your beta team because they leak stuff and don't kiss your ass and try to help make your product better by pointing out bugs. You don't need to release again until you get all your issues, both software and content worked out.

AircraftKiller, Reborn is a mess. The one time I downloaded their installer it crashed Windows to the point where I had to format and reinstall. That tells me they are paper tigers who are all show and no go. You don't have to reiterate over and over again. I have a few beefs about RenAlert too, but their mainly balance related and hopefully we can discuss them like adults later.

In the meantime, ACT YOUR GODDAMN AGES, NOT YOUR FING SHOE SIZE!

Everybody else, please forgive my language.

Yes, but you're 20ish you should be mature enough recognize a dead horse(Reborn) and let it drop. Everybody except Renardin and his acolytes has basically realized that Reborn is not currently worth their time or bandwidth. You and others have repeatedly shown that they have serious content and software issues to deal with before they can be taken seriously.

Were I in the Reborn mod I would have kicked Renardin to the curb months ago as he is apparently the major stumbling block in their path. It(Reborn) has potential to rival RenAlert in cool factor, and possibly popularity, if they can get their ducks in a row and resolves their issues.

Now I won't ask you guys to make up, but let's drop the animosity and have done with it.

*Dear sweet Jesus, am I full of animal analogies tonight or what? :rolleyes:

Maturity has nothing to do with it.

I just feel like bashing them over and over until they are seen as a dead horse by everyone, then I'll give up.

Pride: A sense of one's own proper dignity or value; self-respect.
ego: An exaggerated sense of self-importance; conceit.

While it is true that another definition of ego is: Appropriate pride in oneself; self-esteem.

A little ego never hurt anyone, only when the ego is taken too far.

And you're going to judge someone's ego, whom you do not know and probably never will, based on you being called a fool... Which makes you just as egotistical as you make anyone else out to be.

Without what I did since december 2003, Reborn would be death. Kicking me would have one result : No more Reborn.

Once I wanted to leave Reborn (that was before Permagrín and Nightcrawler joined, they gave a second hope for the mod). Darkomen told me this :

Quote:It would be a dead hit to the mod if you leave...

I am not the best texurer, I do what I can in my free time, I have a life to manage (studies, gf, sports and so on...) If I can find a better texturer, I will hire him. Until we find a better than me, I will do my job for reborn and vengeance team and if Reborn fails (what I doubt because we are working hard on it), I will give all my time to vengeance, wic is what I am supposed to do for my friend TheKGBspy once Reborn stuff are done.

You talk about maturity ? Ok, I am 23 and I can read... You should browse the forums @ <http://www.cncreborn.com> before saying such things.

Thank you.
