Is this already put into the CP1 release, or could you make a way so we can go into the renegade server browser, double click on the greyed out place we want to play and get a auto downloaded map?

if it was possible you would need a hell of a massive server with loads of space.
Also, the traffic on that is unthinkable.

But I'm sure Team BHS will find a way

It is planned to do some auto map download in a future version of RenGuard, but this is too massive for a Core Patch..

Very good idea, as in ut2k4. If you dont have the maps etc it will re-direct you to where the file is located at and automatically downloads it.

Would be good in renegade sometime in the future.

yea same on half life, you can join any server you like and if you don't have any required files it downloades them. Great system!
