I use Limewire for everything. It will pwn all other file share clients, and then share a text file that says so with 6 million losers world wide.

I tried Limewire last week and didn't like it that much, but since K++ has become a porn dumping ground I'll try it again since you say it's so good.

tooncyBut what happens if it sucks?

I would download a game that I could care less about buying, just to see what they're like. Like SW: Battlefront for example, it sucks, because it's just like BF1942 and I don't like copy-cats.
