

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?

Posted by SuperFlyingEngi on Mon, 11 Oct 2004 21:45:44 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

<http://home.comcast.net/~blogitics/BushTenYrs4MB.mov>

Thoughts?

---

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?

Posted by Panther on Mon, 11 Oct 2004 22:08:51 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I do see a major difference between the two debates... maybe he has really bad campaign writers now?

---

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?

Posted by SuperFlyingEngi on Mon, 11 Oct 2004 22:15:59 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Well, campaign writers don't make you stutter...Also, here's some interesting pictures from the debates...

Yes, the White House has acknowledged these pictures, but say that they are just a bulge in his coat. I think not.

---

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?

Posted by Fabian on Mon, 11 Oct 2004 22:19:39 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

The example they give of his present speech in the debate really has little to do with writers. Look at his pupils in the 1st clip, it looks like he's reading...

This is very interesting...

---

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?

Posted by SuperFlyingEngi on Mon, 11 Oct 2004 22:37:45 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

The New York Times WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 - What was that bulge in the back of President Bush's suit jacket at the presidential debate in Miami last week?

---

According to rumors racing across the Internet this week, the rectangular bulge visible between Mr. Bush's shoulder blades was a radio receiver, getting answers from an offstage counselor into a hidden presidential earpiece. The prime suspect was Karl Rove, Mr. Bush's powerful political adviser.

When the online magazine Salon published an article about the rumors on Friday, the speculation reached such a pitch that White House and campaign officials were inundated with calls.

First they said that pictures showing the bulge might have been doctored. But then, when the bulge turned out to be clearly visible in the television footage of the evening, they offered a different explanation.

"There was nothing under his suit jacket," said Nicolle Devenish, a campaign spokeswoman.

"It was most likely a rumpling of that portion of his suit jacket, or a wrinkle in the fabric."

Ms. Devenish could not say why the "rumpling" was rectangular.

Nor was the bulge from a bulletproof vest, according to campaign and White House officials; they said Mr. Bush was not wearing one.

Here's the link to the article, in case anyone wants to see it:
<http://www.nytimes.com/2004/10/09/politics/campaign/09bulge.html>

---

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?

Posted by RATM\_Bassist on Mon, 11 Oct 2004 23:02:06 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

The video does show that President Bush was a good speaker at debates, but now it seems that his "communication device" failed, so he was not able to receive the information that he needed. Tell me what you think

---

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?

Posted by Fabian on Mon, 11 Oct 2004 23:14:49 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

For the record, I think the radio transmitter on the back idea is retarded.

---

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?

Posted by Aircraftkiller on Mon, 11 Oct 2004 23:34:21 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I think it's retarded for you to worry about wrinkles in his clothing. The contents of the debates are much more important than trivial bullshit you people cook up to throw attention off what was said.

---

---

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?

Posted by cheesesoda on Mon, 11 Oct 2004 23:39:24 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

You seem suprised by this. It's what liberals do.

---

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?

Posted by \_ToXiN\_ on Mon, 11 Oct 2004 23:46:40 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

SuperFlyingEngiWell, campaign writers don't make you stutter...Also, here's some interesting pictures from the debates...

Yes, the White House has acknowledged these pictures, but say that they are just a bulge in his coat. I think not.

Honestly to me that looks like someone wearing a kevlar vest under their coat, I mean he does seem a bit wider than usual in those pictures in my opinion.

They are obviously not just wrinkles, my bet would be on a kevlar vest. you know, to stop bullets from entering your body if you're shot at.

---

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?

Posted by SuperFlyingEngi on Mon, 11 Oct 2004 23:47:06 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

You're confusing liberals with FOX News, and ACK, are you honestly saying that the perfect square on the back of Bush's clothing is a wrinkle?

---

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?

Posted by cheesesoda on Mon, 11 Oct 2004 23:58:08 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

SuperFlyingEngiYou're confusing liberals with FOX News
And you're confusing intelligence with idiocy.

---

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?

Posted by SuperFlyingEngi on Tue, 12 Oct 2004 00:04:37 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

...And yet I haven't mentioned intelligence in this thread yet. Stay on-topic, please.

Oh, and Toxin, it does look like a Kevlar buckle, a bit, although the White House has come out and said it was not a bullet-proof vest. Regardless, some funny business is going on.

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?

Posted by DarkDemin on Tue, 12 Oct 2004 00:05:00 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

SuperFlyingEngi You're confusing liberals with FOX News, and ACK, are you honestly saying that the perfect square on the back of Bush's clothing is a wrinkle?

2 words,

Kevlar Vest, and I don't blame him at all. Where the hell did you get this fox news bullshit...

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?

Posted by Jecht on Tue, 12 Oct 2004 00:06:46 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

When I look at this thread, all that comes to mind is WTF? Are you people actually that anal that you view pictures of the president at all sides and pick out all the little petty flaws? I mean, you have nothing better to do with you time? Well I dont say anything about how John Kerry has the face of a horse, or it looks like he got smacked square in the face by an iron now do I? lol i guess I did WHOOPS....

Take my advise democrats and:

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?

Posted by Fabian on Tue, 12 Oct 2004 00:17:50 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Woah there, cowboy.

It takes a special type of person to post an ebaumsworld forum image!

---

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?

Posted by RATM\_Bassist on Tue, 12 Oct 2004 00:36:53 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I'm going to have to with SuperFlyingEngi on this one. Wrinkles are not shaped in perfect squares, like in the picture seen above. All you people mad about us discussing what is wrong can just eat me.

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?

Posted by Fabian on Tue, 12 Oct 2004 00:37:52 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Why don't we focus a bit more on the video?

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?

Posted by Blazer on Tue, 12 Oct 2004 01:15:29 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Looks like a bulletproof vest to me. And naturally they would not want to say or announce or even admit that's what it was. Because revealing he was wearing one would nullify its advantage of keeping him safe.

In other words, if some crazy fuckhead who wanted to kill the President knew he was wearing a kevlar vest, he would use a bomb or some other method, so best not to reveal it.

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?

Posted by Crimson on Tue, 12 Oct 2004 01:17:54 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Several options...

Maybe it IS a bulletproof vest and the Secret Service doesn't want people to know they thought he might need one at that debate.

Maybe it's some sort of medically-necessary brace for his spine or shoulders. (or maybe a bra j/k)

Maybe it's the tag for the jacket because he spilled a drink on his original jacket and they had to stop at Armani on the way to the debate to get a new one.

From what I've seen in the movies, they try to conceal wires. Between the shoulder blades isn't the place to do it. Wires would be better placed in the midsection where the jacket fans out slightly. Furthermore, you can't see any earpiece. And lastly, even IF someone were feeding him the words, it doesn't change the content of the message... the same as we Republicans weren't in an uproar on footage that plainly showed Kerry pulling some sort of what could possibly have been a cheat sheet from his pocket and unfolding it on the podium.

---

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?

Posted by Blazer on Tue, 12 Oct 2004 01:24:28 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

CrimsonMaybe it IS a bulletproof vest and the Secret Service doesn't want people to know they thought he might need one at that debate.

Exactly, except I think its much more likely that they would not want it known about simply for the reason I pointed out.

Saying they wouldnt want people to know they thought he might need one at the debate, implies that "they" think that there is a good chance that people dislike the president and would want to do him harm.

Reality is, the debates are probably the least secure situation the president is ever in. Its not like the press briefings he holds where everyone knows each others name...these are total strangers in the audience, and although Im sure they were screened for weapons and whatnot, you never know what could happen. If I was head of security I would make him wear a vest too. And I wouldn't want it known that he was wearing a vest, otherwise it would make any would-be assasins change their tactic to one that might be unpredictable.

---

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?

Posted by SuperFlyingEngi on Tue, 12 Oct 2004 01:42:16 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Crimsonthe same as we Republicans weren't in an uproar on footage that plainly showed Kerry pulling some sort of what could possibly have been a cheat sheet from his pocket and unfolding it on the podium.

He wasn't pulling a cheat sheet out of his pocket, he was un-capping his pen.

---

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?

Posted by Nukelt15 on Tue, 12 Oct 2004 01:51:05 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I think it could be a vest as well. It would make perfect sense to not tell anyone he was wearing one- or even to deny he was wearing one. If there was a shooter somewhere in the audience, if they knew he had a vest on, they might shoot for the head instead- and a helmet would have been much harder to conceal (that, and someone would be bound to say there was a headset concealed in it, yadda yadda yadda). Somewhat like the flight suit that people have been complaining about from that carrier landing- well, he couldn't very well sit in an ejection seat(and you'd better believe that's where he was) with a suit and tie on.

---

You're making mountains out of molehills here. Even if it was a reciever, so what? It obviously doesn't help him in anyway, so why the big problem with it? If it were Kerry with a "mysterious" shape under his jacket, the Democrats wouldn't care at all; it would be the Republicans bitching about it. I fail to see the significance of this; I'd place good money that candidates have been fed debate answers since they started doing debates in the first place.

Whee, political sniping... :rolleyes:

---

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?
Posted by Battousai on Tue, 12 Oct 2004 01:58:26 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I don't know what it is, but it looks like he's lost weight so it may be some kind of diet patch.

---

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?
Posted by SuperFlyingEngi on Tue, 12 Oct 2004 02:24:54 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

What about the movie? That's what this thread is about. The picture is just a little sidetrack I put here, and didn't feel like it warranted another thread.

Oh, and by the way, I can sort of understand the argument for body armor, I've already seen it, but those people in that town hall meeting must be so well scanned by the Secret Service that I doubt any of them could ever be a potential killer.

---

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?
Posted by Blazer on Tue, 12 Oct 2004 02:42:35 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

SuperFlyingEngiOh, and by the way, I can sort of understand the argument for body armor, I've already seen it, but those people in that town hall meeting must be so well scanned by the Secret Service that I doubt any of them could ever be a potential killer.

Would they detect someone with dentures made out of C4? :twisted:

---

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?
Posted by liberator on Tue, 12 Oct 2004 02:48:59 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I've heard some people, who I know are not Dems, suggest that given the rumor that Bush had a breakdown about a year ago, that maybe the Press Office or his Advisors had him drugged up on Prozac or some such to prevent him from having a repeat in front of 100 million people. And that the reason he wasn't on legal depressants in the 2nd one was because that's his enviroment and it shows because he pwned Kerry.

---

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?

Posted by Blazer on Tue, 12 Oct 2004 03:35:01 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Put on your hip boots boys, it's gettin' deep!

---

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?

Posted by Hydra on Tue, 12 Oct 2004 04:45:50 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

This whole thread can be summed up into one word: crap.

Being president of the most powerful nation in the world is a much more demanding job than being a state governor. The President was not going to be as quick on his feet as usual since he could fall asleep from fatigue at any time.

I can't believe you would even think that was a radio receiver on his back. Who in their right mind puts a radio receiver on the President's back in plain view of a camera? Use your head, SuperFlyingEngi. No one in politics is that stupid.

I can't believe you're actually making an issue out of this, SuperFlyingEngi. About the only thing you have on Nodbugger is your use of proper grammar (most of the time). At least he makes arguments about real issues, and they make sense (most of the time). You, on the other hand, choose to make an issue about what Bush had on his back during a debate and whether or not he is suffering from a brain disorder as if there's anything to debate about (for assholes who will say, "You're right, he obviously IS suffering from a debilitating brain disorder," there is nothing to debate about because he IS NOT suffering from presenile dementia).

---

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?

Posted by warranto on Tue, 12 Oct 2004 04:56:41 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Quote:At least he makes arguments about real issues, and they make sense

Why do I find this so funny?

Oh yes, I almost forgot. Nothing is illegal unless you are specifically told so.

---

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?

Posted by Hydra on Tue, 12 Oct 2004 05:00:30 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

hydra1945(most of the time )

Perhaps I should have said 50% of the time?

That's beside the point, though. SuperFlyingEngi has resorted to trying to dig up any crap he can find that hurts GWB in some way and automatically accepts it as truth. It doesn't matter if it has nothing to do with any of his policis in question. It could be a conspiracy theory like this "radio receiver" deal, and Super would have no trouble thinking it's true.

At least Nodbugger debates the issues at hand.

---

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?

Posted by Vitaminous on Tue, 12 Oct 2004 06:27:39 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

ROFL, I just saw it on National TV...

---

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?

Posted by \_ToXiN\_ on Tue, 12 Oct 2004 06:40:01 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

...

You do know that SuperFlyingEngie isn't the only one who does it, I mean if the RenAlert forums were up I could find many cases where you point out little inane things about Kerry that have nothing to do with the issue at hand, and make a big deal out of them, I mean it's just normal action for the American Political Parties to bash each other like RenAlert and Reborn.

Hell, I won't be suprised when there are people holding up signs with Bushes head going in to Goatse, or Kerry getting a face full of tubgirl.

And anyway, when you people point out stupid little things (Be it Democrat or Republican) the rest of us have a fun time correcting you

And that most probably is a kevlar vest, me having seen one. a Kevlar vest has big plates of kevlar in it, the top most back plate was shaped like a house with a low roof, and had split in the middle for the user to have more 'natural' movement.

And see, why wouldn't they tell you, the innocent little American with a hunting rifle and a press pass to one of these debates, about the vests? (which probably both of them wear) Well it's simple, see you, the innocent little american with the big ass rifle, would usually be going for a heart shot, little do you know the president has Kevlar on, thus when you pull the trigger, bada-boom! the president falls on his ass, gets back up, pulls out an M16 and shoots your un-kevlared ass back to where you came from.

Now when the innocent little American with a big ass rifle knows that he has kevlar on, what does he do? He goes for the harder headshot. blam! Splatter! Thud! Screams! Exactly... billions of people get to see the presidents brains fly out of his head.

Thus the SS denies him having the Kevlar vest, so that the President can live to debate another day.

(And who was the smart ass who came up with Secret Service, my paranoid brain is putting Homeland Security, the SS and such together to form a big-ass conspiracy about a New World Order of neo-nazism run by anyone in office. =P No, i'm not being serious)

---

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?

Posted by Vitaminous on Tue, 12 Oct 2004 07:16:03 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

The "SS"? That sure sounds wrong.

NAZI AMERICA!!

---

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?

Posted by Hydra on Tue, 12 Oct 2004 07:41:23 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

_ToXiN_ You do know that SuperFlyingEngie isn't the only one who does it, I mean if the RenAlert forums were up I could find many cases where you point out little inane things about Kerry that have nothing to do with the issue at hand, and make a big deal out of them, I mean it's just normal action for the American Political Parties to bash each other like RenAlert and Reborn.

"Little inane things" like Kerry's Vietnam War record? His war record is no "little inane thing." That's a legitimate topic since Kerry has made it a major portion of his campaign. Had he not made it such an important part of his platform it would be a non-issue, but he doesn't miss an opportunity to point out that he was in Vietnam in any speech he gives or any rally he's at. Kerry made it a major issue; I did not.

No, "little inane things" would be things like his spray-on tan, his $8,000 hair cut or his botox injections, none of which I have ever made an issue.

---

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?

Posted by \_ToXiN\_ on Tue, 12 Oct 2004 08:28:06 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Did I ever mention the war records, which in my opinion are an issue? Did I? Anywhere in that post did I directly mention those war records or do you have any proof of me meaning them?

What's that I hear? ...oh it's a big fat NO, so stop putting words in my mouth, you feckin' liberal. =P

I didn't mean his war records, those seem to be an issue, but You and other Republicans (And Democrats such as SuperFlyingEngie) have the uncanny ability to derail topics totally with a few comments about things that have no basis, basis being that they have actual fact behind them.

The Republicans dish out useless slander just as much as the Democrats, neither party will admit it, but both of them do it.

And on top of that, you just made those things an issue by even mentioning them, nyah.

*grabs popcorn and coke* Shoulda learned by now, there is no way you can out-debate me, this will go on for a while.

(Mind the typos, blame the flu)

---

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?

Posted by Crimson on Tue, 12 Oct 2004 10:46:38 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I find it ironic that you're calling hydra a liberal when he's quite obviously NOT one.

Quote:There is no way you can out-debate me because I will prattle on and on endlessly until you give up even if I'm not making sense.

Since you're sick I fixed the typo.

---

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?

Posted by \_ToXiN\_ on Tue, 12 Oct 2004 11:30:15 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

The liberal part is a joke from the RenAlert forums, or did you just conveniently not notice the '=P' ASCII smilie there that would mean it's a joke?

Nice going, Crimson, twisting what I said around, see either you were trying to be funny or were actually serious, either way you probably have No idea what I'm talking about when I said

Quote:Shoulda learned by now, there is no way you can out-debate me, this will go on for a while.

that is also a joke, one you would not get since you never visit the RenAlert forums, see if you knew what I was talking about, you would know that me and Hydra have the ability to get in to ridiculously long debates where the size of the posts span atleast two pages each, where the point gets lost and we just end up repeating the same things, while agreeing on half the thinds and disagreeing on the other half.

But you just like turning a peoples words around, in an attempt to make a joke, that is totally lost on the people who know what I'm talking about.

Well Bravo, you just managed to add on to a quote, not get two jokes that were directed at Hydra, Insulted me while I had said nothing against you, and so on.

Suddenly I remember why I just keep to the RenAlert forums, too bad they're down.

---

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?

Posted by SuperFlyingEngi on Tue, 12 Oct 2004 11:34:26 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

hydra1945SuperFlyingEngi has resorted to trying to dig up any crap he can find that hurts GWB in some way and automatically accepts it as truth.

I'm not accepting this as truth. Read the thread. In my FIRST POST the only thing in it is the link and "Thoughts?" That's not accepting it as truth, I just want to see what you all think about it. The picture was more of a sidetrack, anyways, i have no idea what that thing is. Although, it should be noted in the debate rules that cameras being behind the candidates was expressly forbidden. However, the people using the cameras didn't exactly take the rules as the gospel.

Hydra, do you really believe that because Bush can't spell words correctly, that he's too tired? I've yet to see another President lose his abilities of eloquency for a debate. The President also didn't look very sleepy, either. His eyes were never drooping, he wasn't nodding off into slumber, stuff like that. I can hardly see that as being the reason.

hydra1945"Little inane things" like Kerry's Vietnam War record? His war record is no "little inane thing."

If Kerry's war record is no little inane thing, then I'm sure that Bush having potentially heavy brain damage from being an alcoholic is no little inane thing, either.

EDIT: Content

---

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?

Posted by Nukelt15 on Tue, 12 Oct 2004 14:45:59 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Quote:Hydra, do you really believe that because Bush can't spell words correctly, that he's too tired? I've yet to see another President lose his abilities of eloquency for a debate.

Ever hear of a little disorder called dyslexia? People with dyslexia typically mix up letters and numbers, both in writing and speech- I should know, I have a bit of it myself. Now, this might not show while the president is reading a speech written by someone else, or while he is typing something that can easily be edited before it is posted, he would not have that same convenience at a debate, where all his words are his own and there is no on-the-spot editing. I would bet any amount of money that's what is going on- it has nothing whatsoever to do with intelligence or how nervous he is. Please, feel free to ask a doctor if you don't believe me.

Stop picking on speech impediments and talk about real issues that actually have some relevance. Like, say, the quality of the candidate's character, or his stance on different controversial issues, or record in office, or something like that. What difference does it make if the man can't dot his i's and cross his t's; it's the message that matters, not how you look while giving it- don't be so damn superficial in your criticism.

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?

Posted by Hydra on Tue, 12 Oct 2004 19:55:35 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

_ToXiN_Did I ever mention the war records, which in my opinion are an issue? Did I? Anywhere in that post did I directly mention those war records or do you have any proof of me meaning them?

What's that I hear? ...oh it's a big fat NO, so stop putting words in my mouth, you feckin' liberal. =P I mentioned Kerry's war records because that's the only thing I remember debating about that might be construed or inane. Other than that, I don't remember talking about anything that might be considered meaningless.

I never said you said his war records were inane. I was only using that issue as an example of something about which I debated that might be considered petty and little.
Talk about putting words into people's mouths.

AND STOP CALLING ME A LIBERAL!!!!!!

Quote:I didn't mean his war records, those seem to be an issue, but You and other Republicans (And Democrats such as SuperFlyingEngie) have the uncanny ability to derail topics totally with a few comments about things that have no basis, basis being that they have actual fact behind them.

Too bad the RenAlert forums are down. I honestly don't remember making any of the comments to which you refer.

Quote:*grabs popcorn and coke* Shoulda learned by now, there is no way you can out-debate me, this will go on for a while.

(Mind the typos, blame the flu)

*takes the popcorn and soda*

All that junkfood will just make your flu worse! Don't you know you should be eating chicken noodle soup?

---

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?

Posted by Crimson on Tue, 12 Oct 2004 20:35:28 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

There aren't the RenAlert forums, I don't visit the RenAlert forums, so how the heck do you expect me to "get" a joke from there? Remember that when you post here you are talking to a different audience, and if you want to be effective, you should consider what they would think about your post.

---

Subject: Bush: Pre-Senile Dementia?

Posted by \_ToXiN\_ on Wed, 13 Oct 2004 03:25:44 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

IRT Crimson

See? The joke was not directed at you, the joke was directed at Hydra, because I knew Hydra would know what I was talking about.

I didn't expect you to get the joke, why? because it wasn't directed at you. But I did expect you to get that there was something more than random blabbering behind what I said, guess not.

IRT Hydra.

Well we'll have to go through the RenAlert forums and pick at all your posts and examine all the ones where you make even the slightest jab at Kerry.

I never said that you said I said that his war records were inane, I actually do think that His war records are an issue while Bush's war records are far less of an issue, simply because Kerry uses his war records to back his campaign.

And I never put words in to your mouth, now you are just making it seem like I put words in to your mouth! =P

....you freakin' LIBERAL....=D

And I do remember you making such comments, of course my memory isn't perfect so I might be remembering someone else, point still stands that Democrats/Liberals(LIKE YOU ) and Conservatives/Republicans will both take jabs at each other on issues that seem totally redundant and try make the other party seem foolish, while in truth they are making themselves look foolish (Like SuperFlyingEngie did here.).

*takes back the popcorn and soda*

But ma' always said that junkfood will make anything better! And I already got me some French Mushroom soup from there dere' Hotel up the street. atleast there's one thing the French know how to do, Food.

And Chicken Noodle soup is disgusting anyway.

IRT SuperFlyingEngie

Quote:If Kerry's war record is no little inane thing, then I'm sure that Bush having potentially heavy brain damage from being an alcoholic is no little inane thing, either.

No, no, no ... and just No.

I guess I'll have to make out a 'Connect the dots' chart for you or something, but see since KERRY uses his SERVICE IN VIETNAM as a MAJOR CAMPAIGN POINT, it becomes no little inane thing, it becomes an actual issue because there is reason to doubt his doings in Vietnam, see?

But Bush doesn't use "I HAVE NO BRAIN DAMAGE" as a major point as to why he should stay president, thus him having or not having brain damage from being alcoholic is not important, why? Because the argument you are trying to make doesn't seem to be very important to anyone, see the Americans could care less, I could care less, just as long as someone nukes the fuck out of N.Korea, I'll be happy, I don't care if they guy who does it has brain damage or doesn't.

And anyway, I don't think he has major brain damage, most likely it's just minor cases of dyslexia while under a lot of stress, or he's tired, god knows I don't make a whole lot of sense when I'm tired. I mean seriously, try and stay up for a nice long while and then make some big important speech where you have to remember every line and so on.

Either way, it's really not an issue, in my opinion at least.

---