ok, i cant figure this one out. its annoying the heck out of me, i got brenbot to start up and log on to irc. that all works great, now, if i go into the irc channel brenbot creates, it posts the messages that ppl in the ren servr say, and it post the messages for ctf (like name1 has stolen gdi's flag) etc etc. yet, the people in the game when they type !help or !rules nothing happens, all the autoannounce sayings i have set never get announced, i cant figure this out. any ideas?

You can do it if you can get sqlite manager. open the brenbot.dat file and you can edit many things including turn on or off modules, check banlist, see peoples join message, and many other things. I forgert where i got the program but it is shareware and should be easy to find.
