As you all probably know, there is a national do not call list in effect, but some of you may not know that this also includes your mobile (cellular) phone. I just found this out today. If you're in America and are not wanting solicitors to call you on your home and/or cell phone, register here: <https://www.donotcall.gov/register/Reg.aspx>

Or I could just block it all and not have to worry about it? No point in me being bothered at all.
