The forum has been hacked today.

We have the IP, the name and the internet provider of the hacker. He can wait some surprises from us soon.

For the community:

We are lucky : I did a complete back up of the website yesterday and I also saved the database. So don't worry, all we be back and it will be safer.

I don't know if I have time to do that stuff tonight, but I will do it as soon as possible.

i deleted the whole forum, because someone used the administrator account r0nin/renardin for experimental hacking the server and reduce serverspeed etc pp.
my provider searches the logfiles for analyzes to find who was this / from where he is.

for the reason this was an administrator account of you guys i changed the FTP/Phpmyadmin passwords till we know who was this.

the phpbb software wont be used anymore, this phpbb is not secure enough.

the reborn page itself works.

Damn fucker ! he will get what he deserves !

Windows ME is good because most viruses being made these days are for 2000 and XP systems. Sure it crashes now & then but most of the time it's as good as new. I use a program called fast defrag which defrags the memory & lets you shut down just about any task on the system. good for fixing slowdowns and program lockups. bluescreening really isn't preventable though
