Not sure if anyone mentioned this but i dont remember reading it here.

What about the glitch that when you get in a tank it puts you in first person mode and its very glitchy.

(To do anything eles you have to get out of the tank then get back in)

It might be the connection. Now I've got ADSL I get problems like that, a lot less. Could be another reason, but that's my guess.

It does happen more when there is lag, but it happens from time to time anyway.

Heh, I get this a lot. It's a bug, though I don't know specifically what causes it. (Problem with Renegade's netcode?) It's easily solvable. Just get out of the vehicle and jump back in again. Note though that it may take more than one try to fix it (sometimes waiting a few seconds can help)

Happened to me the other day in a clan game

Rushed there ref with my apache while an orca was chasing me, i jumped out and ran inside and waited for him to get out of the orca to kill my tech. As he ran in i ran out and hopped in his orca only to get that glitch and have to jump out then he got back in it and killed me.

If it happens at bad times it could affect the game.
